Summary

Hi, I'm Jesse. My working years started when I was 17 years old. I started off in an automotive warehouse, and aside from my 2 year stint in the clothing world, I have always worked in automotive environments. That is until I quit my job in 2010 to move to Redding to attend BSSM and attempt to run my own web design/development firm.

Since being self-employed I have learned a great deal I never learned in my first 10 years of being employed. Skills such as accounting, project management, running meetings with clients, managing other team members, providing support, paying ridiculous amounts of taxes, and most importantly, learning to deal with difficult clients.

While business is good, I would like to supplement my income. I am seeking employment in companies where I can utilize and grow my current skills as well as learn new ones.

Qualities

Excellent computer skills on both Macs and PCs, extremely organized, detail orientated, great people skills, fast learner. If you are familiar with the DISC test, I am a high C/D.
